Introduction

With the changes implemented in April 2014 by The Taking Control of Goods Regulations 2013 and the enactment of Part 3 of the Tribunals, Courts and Enforcement Act 2007, High Court Enforcement Group decided to expand its in-house training to prepare enforcement agents and office-based staff.

Since then, we have significantly increased our commitment to training, extending it to many other organisations in the credit industry.

We are the only enforcement agency which is an approved (educational) assessment centre delivering Regulated Qualifications Framework (RQF) and Quality Mark training, putting us at the forefront of educational excellence and staff development in the enforcement profession.

CILEx for enforcement qualifications

CILEx – the Chartered Institute of Legal Executives – is an Ofqual regulated awarding body and its endorsement and various (RQF) regulated qualifications are widely recognised, valued and respected. The endorsement is a celebration of outstanding practice in delivering learning.

Agored Cymru regulated qualifications and quality marked workshops

Agored Cymru, a Qualifications Wales awarding body, regulates a number of our qualifications and has awarded a Quality Mark to our workshops. Agored Cymru is committed to developing talent in Wales, for Wales, and its RQF regulated qualifications and Quality Mark are widely recognised, valued and respected.

What these mean

This confirms, for example, that Excel has robust administrative systems, quality assurance processes and evaluation strategies for the learning programme. It further confirms that those delivering the regulated qualifications and workshops have the skills and knowledge to deliver in line with good practice, professional standards and current research.

The endorsement and quality mark form part of Excel's quality assurance strategy, signifying that we take the quality of our training seriously and that improvement and development are central to our practice. The rigorous self-assessment and external endorsement inform organisational and learning development.

Continuing professional development (CPD) is at the heart of the endorsement and quality mark. Excel wants to ensure that learners and participants are getting the very best learning opportunities so that they can increase their knowledge and enhance their sector practice.

In terms of money judgments, we support local authorities with the enforcement of county court judgments under a High Court writ of control to recover all manner of debt, including sundry debt, housing benefit overpayments and former tenant rent arrears.

Our property services cover both commercial and residential property and include commercial rent arrears recovery (CRAR), forfeiture of lease, residential tenant evictions, trespasser and traveller evictions.

Excel Civil Enforcement
